

What you should know about qualified medical expenses for Health Savings Accounts

If you have a Health Savings Account (HSA) it's important for you to understand what a qualified medical expense is and how it relates to your account.

Background:

A Health Savings Account (HSA) is a tax-advantaged savings account combined with a High Deductible Health Plan. You can use your HSA to help meet your deductible by paying for medical expenses covered by your health plan. Some expenses may not be covered by your health insurance plan but can still be paid for using your HSA. The IRS considers these "qualified medical expenses" and are defined in Section 213(d) of the Internal Revenue Code.

What is a qualified medical expense?

- They're expenses that include amounts paid for the diagnosis, treatment or prevention of disease, and for treatments that affect any part or function of the body.
- The expenses must be used to prevent or relieve a physical defect or illness.
- They're expenses that would generally qualify for the medical and dental expenses deduction under tax advantaged accounts.
- HSA funds spent on non-qualified expense will be considered part of your taxable income. You will also owe a 20% penalty on that amount.

Whose expenses can be reimbursed?

The money in the HSA can be used to pay for qualified medical and/or dental expenses spent by the employee, spouse or a dependent for whom an exemption is claimed under Section 152 of the tax code. Expenses that occurred before you established your HSA are not qualified medical expenses. Only expenses made after you open your HSA are qualified medical and/or dental expenses.

Be sure to keep complete records to show that:

- The money in the HSA was used only to pay for or reimburse qualified medical and/or dental expenses
- The qualified medical and/or dental expenses had not been previously paid for or reimbursed from another source
- The medical and/or dental expenses had not been taken as an itemized deduction in any year

Over-the-Counter (OTC) items impacted by health care law

Effective January 1, 2011 you will no longer be able to use funds from an HSA to purchase some OTC items that had been covered in the past. Please see the chart below for more detail.
